Swiss construction output price index in October 2021

Construction prices rose by 2.7% in October 2021

The construction price index recorded a rise of 2.7% between April and October 2021, reaching 104.1 points (base October 2020 = 100). This result reflects an increase in building and civil engineering prices. Year on year, construction prices increased by 4.1%. These are some of the findings of the Federal Statistical Office (FSO).
