Subjective employment insecurity of higher education graduates in 2021, five years after obtaining their degree

In 2021, 8% of higher education graduates had a strong fear of becoming unemployed

Five years after graduation, 8% of higher education graduates had a strong fear of becoming unemployed in the twelve months following the survey. In 2021, the most frequently mentioned reasons for this fear were related to the COVID-19 pandemic and the unfavourable economic situation. These results are based on data from the graduate survey (EHA) that is conducted by the Federal Statistical Office (FSO).
