One person in seven changed job in 2023

In Switzerland 14.7% of people who pursued a professional activity changed their job between 2022 and 2023. Mobility is particularly strong among young people and those without children. For 15.1% of employed persons, a change of job led to a higher work-time percentage and for 38.1% of employees, a wage increase. These are some of the results from the 'Occupational mobility in Switzerland 2023' publication from the Federal Statistical Office (FSO).
