Producer and Import Price Index fell in June by 0.1%

The Producer and Import Price Index fell by 0.1% in June 2025 compared with the previous month. The index stood at 106.4 points (December 2020 = 100). Petroleum products in particular saw falling prices. In contrast, food products as well as petroleum and natural gas saw higher prices. Compared with June 2024, the price level of the whole range of domestic and imported products fell by 0.7%. These are the results of the Federal Statistical Office (FSO).

In the Producer Price Index, higher prices were recorded than in the previous month for processed tea and coffee in particular. Petroleum products, in contrast, became cheaper.

Petroleum products were responsible in particular for the decline in the Import Price Index compared with May 2025. Prices also fell for pharmaceutical preparations, green coffee, vegetables, melons and potatoes. In contrast, prices for petroleum and natural gas rose, as did prices for other transport equipment.

Applicable prices

The prices of domestic products are surveyed for the domestic market at the first marketing stage (i.e. ex works). These ex works prices include neither valued added tax nor consumption tax (e.g. on tobacco, alcohol or petroleum products).

For exports, net sales prices are surveyed FOB (free on board) which, pursuant to definition, do not include valued added tax.

For imports, prices are surveyed at the Swiss border minus valued added, consumption and customs taxes.

In general, the market prices (transaction prices) for products are surveyed at the time of ordering. Price reductions (discounts) are deducted. Prices in foreign currencies are converted at the exchange rate on the first working day of the survey reference period in Swiss francs. The reference period always covers the period from the 1st to 8th of the survey month. This provision allows the results for the reference month to be calculated and published in the course of the subsequent month.

Producer price index for selected services
