

Racism and integration

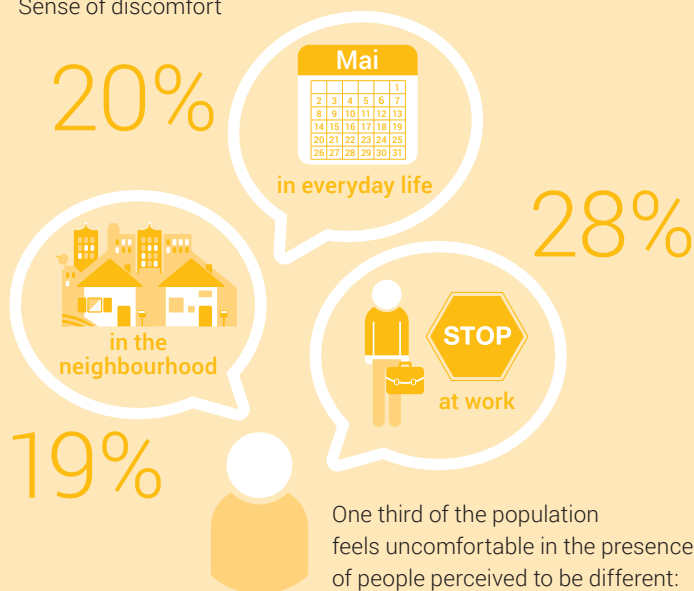

66%

of the population consider racism as an important social problem

56%

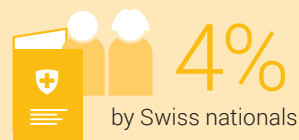

of the population rate the integration of migrants as good to very good

Sense of discomfort

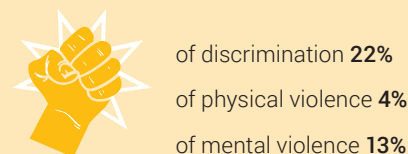

Sense of threat

Proportion of the population that feels threatened:

27% of the population who consider themselves victims

Personal experience of discrimination or violence

Negative opinions towards

Muslims 14%

Black people 10%

Jewish people 8%

Rejection of stereotypes about

5%

10%

8%

of the population